Sexting

I have heard of sexting, what does it mean?

'Sexting' describes the use of technology to share sexual and sexually implied content. This content includes texts, photos of partial nudity and sexual images or video. This could be shared between partners, peers and strangers. Individuals may use a range of technology to share the content.

The sharing of naked pictures is not a new thing but the speed with which you can share and the potential audience size has dramatically changed as a result of the online world.

Sexting Advice for Teens

Sameer Hinduja, Ph.D. and Justin W. Patchin, Ph.D.

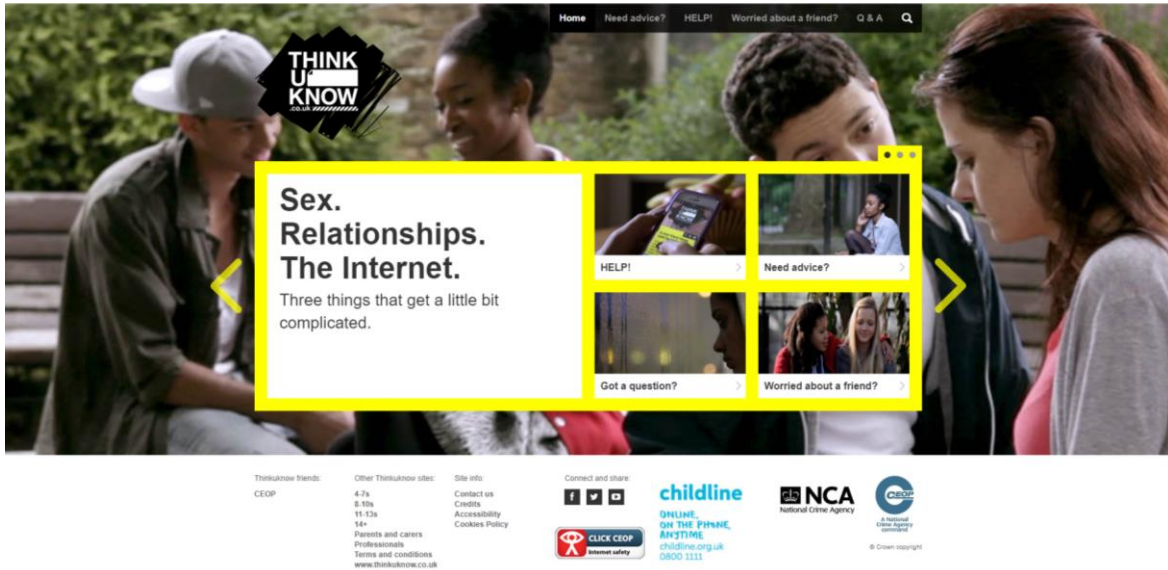

Sharing pictures with romantic partners is a natural part of any relationship. It's important, however, that you are doing so safely, responsibly, and appropriately. Changing explicit (nude) images is not only illegal if you are underage, it also can lead to some major life complications that can affect you for years. It can get you in trouble with your parents, your school, and even the police - your reputation could be ruined, and it may be used to blackmail you. Think twice before taking an explicit picture of yourself, or sending one of yourself - or someone else - to another person. Follow these basic principles to avoid dealing with heavy fallout.

- 1. DELETE ANY EXPLICIT IMAGES SENT TO YOU! Even simply having these images on your phone could land you in a heap of trouble.
- 2. DO NOT DISTRIBUTE EXPLICIT IMAGES. If someone sends you an explicit image of themselves or someone else, do not pass it on to anyone else. Try to think about how you would feel if someone sent similar pictures of you to someone else that you didn't know or wouldn't want to see.
- 3. IGNORE OR FLAT-OUT REJECT ANY REQUESTS FROM ANYONE FOR EXPLICIT IMAGES. It is just not worth it, no matter how much you like the other person - even if you think you can trust them. The potential risk is just too high. If they really care about you, they will understand.
- 4. BLOCK INDIVIDUALS WHO MAKE YOU UNCOMFORTABLE. If they threaten you (or what they send to you).
- 5. DISTRACT THE PERSON REQUESTING INAPPROPRIATE PICTURES FROM YOU. Engage them in conversation about something else, or direct them to a cool YouTube video or theme you just saw. If they continue to ask about the pics, let them know that they should just chill out.
- 6. DON'T SUPPORT YOUR OWN OBJECTIFICATION. You are not a piece of meat. You don't want people to like you because of your body, but because of your mind and heart. Clearly, if you're sending explicit images just feeds their appetite for more, and continues to devalue you. You're not a commodity for their satisfaction (and then, sadly, their disposal).
- 7. SEXTING DOESN'T DEFINE A HEALTHY, FUNCTIONAL ROMANCE. Sure, it's fun, flirtatious, and illegal, but remember that these images could be seen by a wider audience (including your parents, teachers, or the police) and don't necessarily convey maturity and experience.
- 8. SEND IMAGES THAT ARE SUGGESTIVE, BUT NOT EXPLICIT. Keep private parts covered at all times. It's fine to send your partner a picture, just make sure it's PG-13 and not R-rated. Even so, realize that these too may be shared others. If you wouldn't be concerned if your whole school (or grand-ma) saw it, it's probably ok.
- 9. IF YOU RECEIVE (OR SOMEONE SHOWS YOU) AN EXPLICIT IMAGE OF SOMEONE YOU KNOW, CONTACT THAT PERSON TO TELL THEM THAT THEIR IMAGES ARE BEING CIRCULATED. You would want someone to tell you if an image or video of yours like that was going around.
- 10. INFORM AN ADULT IF YOU ARE CONCERNED ABOUT THE WELL-BEING OF THE PERSON IN THE IMAGE. If you are worried about the person who is in the picture or video, whether that was a friend or not, you may need to get help from an adult you trust.
